II. OBJECT OF THE GAME

1. The object of the game is to score as many points as possible.
2. Points are achieved when the Spacefighter destroys the mutants, flying saucers and missile launching bases. (PLEASE REFER TO SCORING AT THE LAST PAGE).
3. The player controls the motion of the Spacefighter up and down as well as left and right by using the control disc/joystick (see FIG. 3). When controlling the Spacefighter in sideward motion, an accelerating sound can be heard and a propelling flame will appear at the end of Spacefighter.

FIG. 3

4. There is a digital energy meter on the upper middle portion of the screen. It starts at 50 and count down for every Spacefighter. Five Spacefighters are provided for each game. The number of the Spacefighters left appears on top of the screen next to the energy meter. If Spacefighter runs out of energy and can not be re-energized and when the energy meter drops to zero, it will explode. When all your Spacefighters are destroyed, the game is over.
5. The Spacefighter can be destroyed by the mutants, flying saucers and energy bombs from flying saucers and missiles and bombs from the missile launcher bases. If colliding with them, however, it may shoot them down by using the laser gun.
6. To re-energize, the Spacefighter has to paralyse the missile protected energy station which sometimes appears at the bottom of screen (see FIG. 4). By bombing the two missile launching bases they will turn into deep blue color that means they are being PARALYSED. The Spacefighter then may land onto the energy station for re-energizing but still watching out for bombs from flying saucers. After re-energized, the Spacefighter has to fetch another or the same energy station which will appear after certain distance. Sometimes it will not appear on the screen until the Spacefighter travels certain distance in one direction. When all your Spacefighters are destroyed, the game is over.

Each Spacefighter can be re-energized as many times as possible from the energy stations, however energy level will not resume to its original level. For re-energizing, the energy level can reach back only upto 40 at the first station, for second station it will be upto 30, and for the third station onward, maximum energy level for the Spacefighter can only be upto 20 after fully re-energized.
